

HINGED POP-UP D-RIG

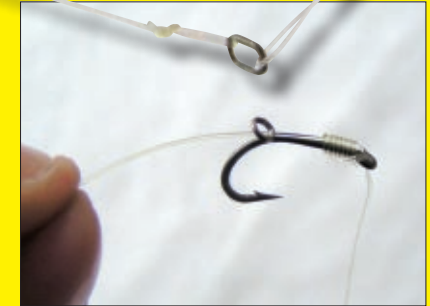

1. This is what we need to make this rig

2. Take a piece of MAD Ambush fluorocarbon and put one end through the eye of the hook

3. Make a knotless knot and make sure that the rig end is going through the eye of the hook on the side of the point

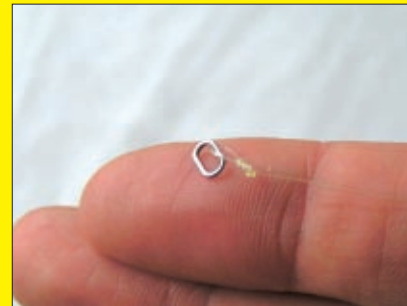

4. Then slide a rig ring over the hair

5. Put the end of the hair back through the eye of the hook so that it forms a nice D-shape on the hook shank

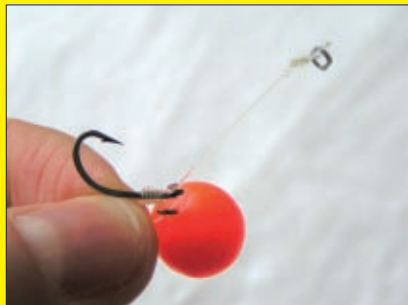

6. With a lighter you make a blob on the end of the hair part so that it cannot go back through the hook's eye

7. Tie an oval rig ring to the end of the rig and make sure that the rig has the proper length. The length of the oval ring to the hook is the distance that the hookbait will hover above the bottom of the swim.

8. Tie a pop-up onto the round rig ring on the D-shaped hair and notice how the hookbait can move freely up and down the hook shank

9. The part standing up from the bottom looks like this

10. Now tie the short rig part to a piece of Ambush of around 10 cm long by using a loop knot

11. Finish the rig by tying a swivel onto the end of the rig to connect it with the mainline and by putting a piece of tungsten putty next to the oval rig ring
